David Morel – Tiger Recruitment

We have worked closely with PBS on and off over the last 18 months assisting them with the recruitment of UK employees to work for their Clients in Dubai. We have found them to be totally professional in their dealings with us.

They have always shown to have an excellent understanding of their Clients needs and each individual brief. Moreover, they know precisely the type of candidate they are looking for to fill each position, from both a cultural and skills perspective.

We thoroughly enjoy working with them and I couldn't recommend them high enough to a Client looking to solicit their services.

PBS-provider of staffing solutions and employment services.

Our package includes the following components:

- Staffing
- Recruitment and Selection
- Interim Management
- Executive Search
- Career Coaching and Training

PBS provides highly educated technical staff for permanent or temporary positions in the private and public sectors. Our clients include both large corporations as well as medium-sized businesses. In addition, we work for national and regional governments and for large and small consultancy firms. We lead an extensive network of agencies situated throughout the European Continent.

PBS is engaged in various activities related to the flexible labour market and is specialized in working with staff members of construction related companies. These are professionals whose expertise and skills are placed at the disposal of different organizations through staffing, project engineering or interim management projects. At PBS we have a separate department for companies that wish to outsource the recruitment and selection of graduate engineers and specialists. Whereas in its early years PBS focused mainly on the construction sector, its areas of activity have grown rapidly over the past few years. Nowadays, personnel are also recruited from other disciplines like civil, environmental, sustainability and infra-structural engineering. Moreover, PBS has now been operating for some years at the international level with projects all over the world.

Why PBS?

At PBS, we can choose from a range of tools, a database full of potential candidates, a wide range of multimedia possibilities such as websites and job vacancy databases along with advertisements in daily newspapers or trade journals with regional or nationwide coverage. Clients and candidates alike choose PBS because of our winning concept of “thinking and acting within the industry”. They select us largely because we speak their language, the language of the industry: potential partners recognize one another.

With our 17 years of experience,, it goes without saying that our consultants are all highly experienced in the recruitment of specialists. Thanks to their thorough knowledge of the industry, they are able to forge ethical partnerships with candidates and clients alike, without compromising our integrity.

We seamlessly adhere to the company values and quality standards our client sets. Companies like Nakheel, Starbucks and AC Nielsen have chosen PBS not only for their exceptional recruitment skills but also because we are committed to ensuring that the client gets the best quality by getting the best value for money.

We are simply dedicated to providing the best service possible to all of our candidates and clients.
